

Military Committee, 6th December, 10h00 – 12h00

Yorck Bernhard Kalke, Ulm, Germany

Spinal cord injury in war zones in past and present

Brahim El Jebbouri, Rabat, Marocco

The incidence of lumbar disc herniation in military population: experience of Moulay
Ismail Hospital

Bassam Addas, Jeddah, Saudi Arabia

Experience of 600 cases of penetrating injuries to the peripheral nerves: Lessons learned

Virendra Deo Sinha, Jaipur, India

Prognostic factors in cranio-cerebral penetrating injuries

Iype Cherian, Kathmandu, Nepal

The role of cisternostomy and microneurosurgery in head trauma

Huges J Gandaho, Cotonou, Benin

Management of warfare cases and compensation of personal injuries: lessons learned from a limited resources country in West Africa

Andrii Sirko, Dnipro, Ukraine

Wartime severe skull and brain injuries: Single center, nine years of experience from Mechnikov Regional Clinical Hospital, Dnipro, Ukraine

Mattias Sköld, Stockholm, Sweden

Update on the NATO Human Factors and Medicin Research Task Group 338 - Guidelines to mitigate military occupational brain health risks from repetitive blast exposure

Uwe Max Mauer, Ulm, Germany

Is there a need for an international guideline about brain injury on the battlefield ?